My professional journey has been shaped at the crossroads of audiovisual production, innovation, and international trade, with solid experience in multicultural contexts. I began my career in Africa (Chad, Côte d'Ivoire) in the aviation and logistics sectors with the Air France Group, and I quickly expanded my scope to explore new entrepreneurial and creative opportunities.

In 2003, I launched Reality Mag, a pioneering audiovisual project long before the rise of YouTube. Its success was crowned with a gold DVD certification, leaving a lasting mark on urban culture and redefining the standards of content production and distribution. This experience allowed me to grasp the dynamics of the audiovisual industry and anticipate its future developments.

Subsequently, I introduced the Tilos software in France, a linear planning tool quickly adopted by companies such as SNCF, Bouygues, Vinci, Alstom, and many others. This initiative was recognized with several awards, including the Espoir de l'économie prize from Seine-Saint-Denis in 2009. As president of the La Nouvelle PME association, I also supported entrepreneurs from underprivileged neighborhoods, fostering the emergence of a new generation of leaders.

Always driven by an entrepreneurial vision, I also founded the Chibina association, dedicated to promoting spirulina, a key resource in Chad, contributing to sustainable development.

In the audiovisual and cinema sectors, I have collaborated on innovative projects, notably with the company De l'Autre Côté du Périph', which produced films like "L'Ascension". I also led educational projects such as "Dans Mon Hall", a program supported by several prestigious foundations, which culminated in the creation of the eponymous festival at the Mairie de Paris.

My passion for digital transformation and artificial intelligence led me to host a masterclass at the Pavillon Afrique of the Cannes Film Festival 2024, titled "Digital Transformation and AI in the Film Industry". This session explored the opportunities offered by new technologies in film creation, particularly for Africa.

Academically, I hold a Master's degree in Innovation Management and a specialization certificate in Initiation to Research in Social Sciences and Humanities from CNAM. These programs have helped me strengthen my skills in project design and innovation, particularly in the cultural and creative sectors.

Currently, as Project Manager for Pedagogical Innovation and Technical Practices at CST, I focus on analyzing skills and adapting training content for technicians in the image and sound industries. In this role, I support the transformation of the industry by promoting innovation, inclusivity, and operational excellence.

Always committed to the evolution of the sector, I continue to share my expertise through training sessions and collaborations with various stakeholders in the creative industries. My approach is based on a simple philosophy: "The world is changing, and so are we," reflecting my desire to actively contribute to the positive transformation of our society.

Do you share this vision?

Let's collaborate to transform your ideas into reality with an innovative and creative approach.

Masterclass "Transformation Digitale et Intelligence Artificielle dans le 7ème Art"

Pavillon Afrique - 2024

Animation of the Cinema Masterclass: "Digital Transformation and Artificial Intelligence in the 7th Art Industry"

I had the honor of leading the Cinema Masterclass entitled "Digital Transformation and Artificial Intelligence in the 7th Art Industry". This 2 hour and 30 minute session, broadcast live, allowed participants to familiarize themselves with technological advances and current trends in the film industry, particularly those related to AI and digital transformation.

- > Innovation and Creativity: Presentation of new creative methods and narrative processes redefined by AI.
- > User Experience and Engagement: Explanation of digital technologies that transform the spectator experience, with a focus on personalized recommendations by AI.
- > Production and Distribution: Illustration of the use of AI-based tools to optimize the production, post-production and distribution of films.
- > Ethics and Creativity: Animation of discussions on the ethical issues associated with the integration of AI in cinematographic creation, reconciling innovation and respect for cultural diversity.
- > Collaboration and Convergence: Highlighting synergies between the film industry and immersive technologies, such as virtual and augmented reality and the metaverse.
- > Opportunities for Africa: Exploration of potentials and promising initiatives for African cinema in the context of digital innovation and AI.

As facilitator of this masterclass, I not only shared my knowledge and expertise, but also facilitated enriching exchanges between participants, thus contributing to their understanding of the impacts of digital transformation and AI about the film industry. This experience strengthened my ability to lead discussions on complex topics and inspire innovation in filmmaking.

Writer and director "Convergences Libératrices: Histoires Oubliées de Héros Méconnus"

21ème Production - Since 2023 - France

"Convergences Libératrices: Histoires Oubliées de Héros Méconnus" (Liberating Convergences: Forgotten Stories of Unsung Heroes): This film project sheds light on a little-known but crucial story: that of the African soldiers, the Brazzaville Manifesto and the Resistance fighters of Northern France during the Second World War. Through archive footage, animations and personal accounts, we reveal their courage and sacrifice, often passed over in silence. "Convergences Libératrices" celebrates their contribution to the struggle for freedom and human dignity, and honors the "Koufra Oath".

Writer and director "Chibina, la Spiruline dans tous ses états"

21ème Production - Since 2023 - France

"Chibina, la Spiruline dans tous ses états : Un Voyage Transmédia vers la Vie Microscopique" : Plunging into the fascinating world of spirulina, a micro-algae with exceptional virtues, this bold transmedia project features an immersive cinematic film, fun exhibitions, interactive books and much more. Guided by Dr. Jean-Louis Vidalo, we explore spirulina in all its facets, transforming its history into an artistic and educational experience.

AENA Association des Entreprises du Numérique pour l'Audiovisuel

AENA (Association des Entreprises du Numérique pour l'Audiovisuel) - 2016 to 2023 - Paris - France

Our involvement in the challenges and dynamics of AENA (Association des Entreprises du Numérique pour l'Audiovisuel) is a source of pride, reflecting our commitment to supporting this innovative organization of start-ups in the audiovisual and film sectors. From the outset, a significant contribution has been made by helping to initiate the association and set up its three main missions: identifying high value-added initiatives, supporting start-ups with tools and networks, and promoting promising innovations. In addition, the association played a key role in drawing up the white paper on Audiovisual Production 2.0. This document explores new approaches and technologies in modern audiovisual production, offering valuable recommendations to industry professionals. Our commitment to AENA and to the drafting of this white paper reflects our desire to support innovation and strengthen the industry's competitiveness in the digital age.

Founding President

Association Chibina - 2005 to 2008 - Paris - France

My responsibilities and achievements:

- > Project management: I oversaw the management of several key projects to develop the spirulina industry, coordinating the various initiatives.
- > Partnership development: I negotiated and set up strategic collaborations, in particular with the FAO, leading to the signing of a partnership agreement for the development of the "Dihé" sector in Chad. This project represents funding of €2 million.
- > Collaboration with technical experts: I worked closely with specialists to improve spirulina production techniques and adapt innovations to local conditions.
- > Construction of an experimental pond: I led the creation of an experimental pond at the Centre National d'Appui à la Recherche (CNAR) in Chad, enabling spirulina cultivation methods to be tested and optimised.
- > Team recruitment: I set up and managed a team of 30 people, bringing together a variety of talents to support research, production and promotion activities.
- > Creation of educational and communication tools: I developed technical documents and set up a website to disseminate information about spirulina and CHIBINA's activities, thereby increasing our visibility and impact.

Background and mission:

Spirulina is a microalgae with remarkable nutritional properties, offering a wealth of proteins, vitamins and minerals. My involvement with CHIBINA is motivated by a desire to improve nutrition and food security in Chad, while promoting a sustainable production approach. Our aim is to make spirulina a key resource for combating malnutrition and supporting local development.

EDUCATION

The certificate of specialization in cultural and creative engineering

CNAM (CONSERVATOIRE NATIONAL DES ARTS ET MÉTIERS)

The main academic objectives of the Certificate of Specialization in Cultural and Creative Engineering are as follows:

Deepen knowledge in the fields of culture, artistic creation and cultural project management.

Development of essential skills in cultural engineering, artistic project planning and cultural resource management.

Preparation for leadership roles in the cultural sector by equipping learners with the skills to design, manage and promote innovative cultural projects.

Encouraging creativity and innovation in cultural management, enabling learners to make a significant contribution to cultural development.

The cultural sector is undergoing a series of major changes: ecological, digital, economic, institutional, societal and social. The certificate is validated after completion of these 5 UE:

--> Building an artistic project, working with artists. (CCE112)

--> Culture and public space, new cultural venues. (CCE114)

--> Digital mutations and innovation in the fields of culture and creation.

--> Ecological and societal transitions in the cultural sector. (CCE115)

--> Research practices in design, art and creation. (DSN201)

In short, this certificate trains cultural and creative professionals by providing the knowledge and skills needed to succeed in cultural engineering, both academically and professionally.

Specialization Certificate in Introduction to Research in the Humanities and Social Sciences

CNAM (CONSERVATOIRE NATIONAL DES ARTS ET MÉTIERS)

Since 2022

--> Initiation to research for a doctorate

--> Learn the main rules of scientific knowledge construction

--> Learn how to design a research project

--> Acquire basic skills in monitoring and rules of scientific and technical information

--> To know the field of production and circulation of scientific knowledge and research

--> If necessary, to facilitate the integration of the future researcher in the public or private research environment

--> To acquire the epistemological and methodological bases of research

To make known the main theoretical currents in the fields concerned

--> To acquire the keys to understanding the research environment, the main places and institutions of production and use of scientific knowledge (public research, research in companies and communities, etc.)

--> Learn how to develop a research project (definition of stages, models and forms, tools)

Certificate STEAM (Sciences, Technologies, Engineering, Arts et Mathématiques) - Il Bello : The Beauty of Innovation and Entrepreneurship

SANT'ANNA - SCULA UNIVERSITARIA SUPERIORE PISA

September 2022 to 2022

Innovation, Creativity and art. 4th edition : IL BELLO : The Beauty of innovation and entrepreneurship (steampreneur) In Pisa, Italy. This course has been authorized by Lappeenranta University of Technology (LUT) and part of the European project ArtIST.

ArtIST (Art, Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Science) is an ERASMUS + project that aims to design and implement innovative Master's level modules integrating the Arts in innovation, entrepreneurship and science education. ArtIST is led by seven higher education institutions and industrial partners from Austria (Warp Innovation), Finland (Lappeenranta University of Technology), France (Conservatoire National des Arts et Métiers), Hungary, Italy (Sant'Anna - Scuola Superiore di Pisa), Lithuania (Kaunas University of Technology), Hungary (University of Miskolc) and the Netherlands (Fontys University of Applied Sciences).

Master 2 - Law, economics and management with a specialization in Innovation Management - Management of Innovation and Innovative Design (MICI)

CNAM (CONSERVATOIRE NATIONAL DES ARTS ET MÉTIERS)

2020 to 2022

The Master 2 MICI trains in the management of innovation and innovative design those who are in charge of projects innovative. The training is based on the experiences and work the most recent to train in the design of innovative identities objects of tomorrow (products, services, organizations, models business, etc.) according to a double dimension:

- reasoning and methods of design and creativity;
- modes of organization and collaboration.

Master 2 - Management of Innovation and Innovative Design prepares students to grasp :

Artificial intelligence, 3D printing, new mobilities, new business models, collaborative platforms, ecosystems but also lowtech, frugal innovation, responsible innovation, design thinking, collaborative innovation....

Innovation is a serious matter but it is plural and its management can be complex.

The MICI Master's program offers you the opportunity to understand the processes of innovation management, to learn how to deploy them and, above all, to manage the uncertain processes of innovative design by mobilizing the C-K theory.

Unique in its kind in continuing education, the MICI Master's degree is intended for all innovation players, in the private and public sectors, present or future: R&D managers, innovation project managers or those in charge of designing innovative offers, lab or community leaders, designers, entrepreneurs, etc.

The MICI Master's degree provides concrete answers through theoretical frameworks, operational tools, and a recognized teaching team, with a rich pedagogy: courses with various modalities that allow you to combine your professional life and the pursuit of a training program (evening classes, online, hybrid training), but also workshops, visits, and seminars with numerous external speakers and a unique historical depth thanks to the Musée des Arts et Métiers.

Collaborative Innovation Best Practices Certification

Introduction

The practices of collaborative innovation have developed considerably over the last decades, under the triple necessity: to innovate radically, quickly, by sharing costs and risks. At the same time, information technologies, in particular Web 2.0 (or even 3.0) approaches, make new modes of collaboration possible. This course aims to present these approaches to collaborative innovation very concretely through examples, good managerial practices but also by meeting the actors of collaborative innovation ecosystems.

This teaching is based on an alternation of conceptual teachings, practical cases, scenarios, presentations of professionals and exchanges-visits of ecosystems and third places dedicated to collaborative innovation.

The foundations and virtues of collaborative innovation practices

- The great periods of innovation are characterized by collaborative innovation practices that are particularly instructive and partially transposable to the context of current practices
- Why collaborate? The creative lever of the complementarity of skills.
- Overview of current practices: partnerships, crowdsourcing, crowdfunding, innovation platforms, communities, networks, etc....

Concrete practices and places of collaborative innovation:

- The concrete practice of collaborative innovation: numerous practical cases and exchanges with professionals
- Synergies and complementarities of skills: competitiveness centers and clusters
- New ways of cooperating: Third places of collaborative innovation

Assessment modality

A written thesis on a case of collaborative innovation, presented orally.
